August 2024

In July, Roma organized a memorable whiskey tasting event at Edrington Hong Kong's stylish office. The ambiance—inviting and vibrant—set the stage for our exploration of whiskey's rich world.

Our host, Lucien, exuded both professionalism and approachability. With a genuine passion for whiskey, he guided us through the history of two iconic brands: Glenrothes (from Speyside) and Highland Park (from the peaty highlands).

Lucien wove tales of generations past, sharing anecdotes about the distilleries. It wasn't merely about the liquid in our glasses; it was about the people, landscapes, and craftsmanship behind each drop.

The highlight? Glenrothes 40 years—a rare single malt older than most of us present. As we savored its complexity, Lucien revealed the distillery's founding, the master blender's artistry, and the enduring family legacy. It transcended mere drink; it connected us to centuries gone by.

In the end, as our glasses clinked in a final toast, we understood: Whiskey isn't just flavors; it's stories, heritage, and the magic shared by gracious hosts like Lucien.

So, next time you're at a tasting, savor not only what's in your glass but also the warmth of camaraderie and echoes of time.
